

Tony Feghali

After completing his studies in USJ - Beirut and the University of Paris 6 in 1988, Tony Feghali received his master's degree in Networking and Distributed Systems and he is a lecturer at USJ since 2000, teaching courses related to network and systems management and cybersecurity. As a researcher, he participated in multiple research projects on ICT security, and presented several papers and talks in international conferences.

During his 23 years career, Tony occupied several technical and managerial positions. He is currently the CEO of POTECH group that has been writing itself since 2002. Today, P.O.TECH – Paths of Technology - is a parent company harnessing 6 specialized entities; Potech's line of activities is a diverse one, covering Strategy, Defense, Vigilance, Resilience, as well as advanced Engineering Solutions, Research and Training. Covering multiple markets across the EMEA region and the world, POTECH's name is linked to masterful services in Information & Technology and Cybersecurity.